“Earlene Sanders, my friend. She always had a smile on her face. She would bring me her famous Christmas cookies every year as she came for her hair appointment. I always looked forward to them, as usually I didn't care for fruity cookies. But her's were perfect, crunchy, little bit of fruit. Why does that stand out so much to me..Earlene was steady. What she did she did well. Never overly excited, never extremely down, just steady. We shared a love of flowers and working in our yards until we dropped. She shared her love for God with me, she always invited me to Church, and I would say.. one day you will look up and I will be coming through the door. She would say well I'm waiting! She was steady. And one day she did look up and I was coming through the door! The choir facing the doors as I walked in, there was Earlene and other good friends. With tears in all of our eyes, that day I gave my heart and soul to God! She was always steady. I pray that her family will feel peace and know that she was a great friend and Great Lady! Love you Ms Earlene! See you later!
