John was a man of many accomplishments. Not only did he spend countless hours farming and enjoying his mules, he also was a devoted husband, father, and grandfather. John had a deep love for his family. He was one of those strong, loving men that only wanted the best for everyone. No matter the circumstances he was always going and doing for others, he was truly selfless. He brought his passions together by immersing his family in the world of farming. His children and grandchildren loved to see him riding his tractor in the field or the wagon with the mules. Being on the farm made his heart full each day.

On top of everything else, John had the best sense of humor, he could make anyone laugh. He was great at getting the last laugh out of everyone. His light-hearted personality made getting to know him easy. He was a man of encouragement with a jab of humor.

To put into words the kind of man John was is impossible, because they broke the mold with him. He is a true symbol of love and strength for his family. His memory will live on forever with his loved ones.
